

The ability to understand and leverage your thinking style is the first step toward breakthrough results.

"FourSight: The Breakthrough Thinking Profile" is a leading assessment tool, designed to boost critical and creative problem solving skills in individuals and groups.

Available online or in paper form, the 37-question survey is backed by 50 years of academic research and 16 years of scientific validation.

Hundreds of corporate, educational and nonprofit clients use FourSight to get a simple, striking look at exactly where they excel and breakdown in the four distinct phases of the breakthrough thinking process.

Discover as an individual, team or organization: Are you a Clarifier? An Ideator? A Developer? An Implementer? Some combination?

FourSight is extremely useful for teams to understand where they might be light in the problem solving process and where they may over-emphasize their activities.
